No One Killed-Leaders Say Workmen Are Held in Mills Against Their Will.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.-Mounted and using their hickory riot clubs, members of the Pennsylvania state constabulary were today keeping strikers on the move in the Pressed Steel Car company strike zone at McKees Rocks.

It is estimated that 500 shots were fired last night and early today by strikers and sympathizers, who had gathered on the O'Donovan bridge near During the firing the troopers and other police remained inside the mine, orders having been issued to take no action unless the strikers attempted an entrance to the plant. .

The constabulary was out on the street this morning, however, compelling the strikers to keep moving. Troopers took possession of the O'Donovan bridge and efforts of the strikers to congregate at any point were defeat-

Strike leaders today explained the Strike leaders today explained the shooting and disorder by saying the workmen were being held in the mills against their wishes. The shooting, they say, was for the purpose of bringing the constabulary from the plant to the bridge and giving the new men an experiently to escape.

the bridge and giving the new men an opportunity to escape.

Shortly after noon alleged strike sympathizers opened fire upon the steamer P. M. Pfeil, which was bringing 50 imported men across the Ohioriver to the mill. Several thousand strikers were lined along the river bank and each volley was discharged at the command of an unknown foreign woman who carried a baby.

Over 100 shots were directed at the steamer. No one was injured.

steamer. No one was injured.
When the steamer reached the shore When the steamer reached the shore a squad of state constabulary rode into the crowd, scattering the crowd and slightly injuring a number of persons. Under heavy guard the imported men were taken to the works.

More than 1.500 loaves of bread were given out to the families of strikers here today as well as quantities of other provisions.

SAN FRANCISCO PRIMARY ELECTION RETURNS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 19.—Complete returns of the primary election held in this city Tuesday to nominate candidates for the November municipal election of the property of candidates for the November Humaripar-election do not change the results pre-viously announced. The candidates for mayor will be William Crocker, Re-publican; T. B. W. Leland, Democrat; P. H. McCarthy, Union Labor, and William McDevitt, Socialist. The contests in which the most inerest was taken was that for district attorney. The only aspirants for this office whose names were printed on the tickets were Charles M. Fickert, R publican, who was endorsed by the Union Labor committee, the Demo-crats leaving the voters to their own choice, and N. C. Coghlan, Independent Republican, who withdrew after the ballots were distributed. Many memhers of all parties, however, wrote in the name of Francis J. Heney, with the result that though Fickert received the Republican and Union Labor nominations, the famous graft prosecutor ob-tained a majority of 124 Democratic votes and thus is made the nominee of that party. Heney also received a majority of the few votes cast by the Independent league. The vote of the three leading parties for district attorney was as follows:

Fickert, Republican. 11,658; Democratic, 2,260; Union Labor, 3,168.
Heney, Republican 4,364; Democratic,
2,384; Union Labor, 648.
Coghlan, Republican, 3,271.

As an illustration the Brooklyn club last year sold Finleyson to the Brockton club with the option to repurchase, which was exercised. Under the rules this player could not be sold this year by Brooklyn, the latter retaining an option to repurchase. FATE INTERVENES KEPT ON THE MOVE IN TUCKER WRECK

Mounted State Constabulary at By Some Fortunate Mishap Passenger Cars Uncouple Before Collision.

Serious Wreck Averted Only by Mysterious Accident Which Removed Coaches from Train.

(Special to the "News.") Provo, Aug. 19.-Fate in some mysterious way stepped in this morning and prevented what undoubtedly would have been one of the worst wrecks in the history of the mountain railroads of Utah. As it is, Conductor Straub of a west bound Rio Grande freight is slightly injured, but, aside from the total destruction of three engines, this is the only serious result of the collision. East bound passenger train No. 6, pulled by two locomotives and pushed by another, was struggling up the stiff grade east of Tucker this morning and was nearing a siding where a west-bound freight coming down grade was to pass it. The freight, however, was not in sight of the passenger crew and the passenger train passed the siding. The freight train was making all spied for the siding and suddenly the crew-sighted the passenger but a short dis-tance away. There was no time to stop and the collision which threatened could by no means be averted. CARS BREAK LOOSE.

Suddenly, and without warning, the passenger cars uncoupled and pushed the engine at the rear of the train down the grade, leaving the crews of the two locomotives at the head to face the impact. With all its cars gone, the passenger train soon was out of danger and when the freight train crashed into the passenger train, all that was left for it to hit were the two engines that had been pulling it up the grade. No one has been found who can explain the cause of the uncoupling of the passenger cars, but it is said that evidently the weight of the train pulled at the rear of the train prevented further complications by continuing to push the train ahead, but by the time it reached the scene of the collision, all danger was passed.

The three engines now the in a hear training to the collision of the collision of the collision.

The three engines now lie in a heap of twisted steel, a junk heap and nothing more. All the engine crews jumped. Conductor Straub of the freight train was thrown from his train and slightly injured. All others escaped unhurt. The foremost cars of the freight were somewhat demograd escaped undure. The foremost cars of the freight were somewhat damaged and some freight was strewn about the ground, but no serious consequences resulted from the wreck other than those mentioned.

BLUE ARMY MASSING STRENGTH AGAINST RED

Pembroke, Mass., Aug. 19 .-- In a strenuous attempt to concentrate its strength against the Red army of invasion in the mimic war now being waged in Massachusetts with the capture of Boston as the object of the invaders, the Blue army of defense, composed wholly of Massachusetts militiamen, was early on the move today. The general indications were that today would see the decisive battle of the campaig somewhere in the neighborhood of the historic towns of Plymouth and Duxbury.

When hostilities closed yesterday the invading army under command of Maj. Gen Tasker H. Bliss, was massed against the left wing of the Massachu-setts army, commanded by Brig.-Gen. William A. Pew. Gen. Pew's defeat was generally expected by experienced ob-servers unless he should be able to mass his Blue army against the entire Red

The first engagement of the day occurred near Bryantville, a village in this county, when the Sixth Massachu-setts infantry and a company of the coast artillery acting as infantry were attacked by a Connecticut regiment and the entire District of Columbia force.

The conflict, although nothing more than a skirmish, was spirited and lasted for more than an hour.

TOM PATTERSON ATTACKS PINCHOT

Basis Was Latter's Report Saying Boundaries of Forest Reserves Are Indefinite.

Transmississippi Congress Would Allow Ex-Colorado Senator Only Three Minutes.

Denver, Aug. 19.—Despite the efforts of leaders in the transmississippi commercial congress to prevent the introduction of the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy, former United States Tenator Thomas M. Patterson of Colorado prepared an attack on Gifford Pinchot this morning, which was curtailed in part by the action of the congress in declining to give additional time to Mr. Patterson who wished to present a resolution in fuller form than allowed by the rules of the congress.

Senator Patterson's resolution cited that a board of inquiry composed of Mr. Pinchot and four other scientists some time ago reported that the boundaries of the forest reserves are not definite and many places include graz-ing and agricultural lands. He de-clared therefore that additional laws are not necessary but that the presi-dent now has the authority to deciare these boundaries in a more definite way, thereby dividing the forests from the arable lands and saving to the people many thousand acres of land now neld in reserve as forest lands.

Mt. Patterson declared that masmuch as Mr. Pinchot has himself concurred in a report which says that the bound-aries are untrue it will be no illegal act for the president to give back to the people the lands to which they are entitled. This he said, is the contention of the people of Colorado, who believe that they are being deprived of lands to which they are entitled under the homestead act.

Mr. Patterson asked that he be given 20 minutes in which to present his resolution but the delegates declined to take this view and his remarks were curtailed to three minutes and no action was taken. No answer was made to the argument of the former senator.

More Pinchot resolutions were of-fered when A. M. Ammonds of Colo-rado asked that laws be requested openrado asked that laws be requested open-ing for entry such lands as are not timbered yet held as reserves. Also that private capital be given the first opportunity to develop waterpower in-stead of the government. Resolutions were offered commending the income ax amendment, condemning the 'trusts,' and asking an annual appropriation for rivers and harbors. The committee on resolutions favored the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as states and the establishment of a national department of mines.

Walter Gresham, who designed the Galveston sea wall, was the principal speaker of the morning. He described the harbor works and the plans for further improvement. L. Bradford Prince of New Mexico spoke of southwestern development.

It was several weeks ago that Lulu was found lying in Commerc! I street clothed in a dress of atmosphere principally. Even the policemen kept their heads turned as they escorted her to the care of the police matron. The best the matron could do for Lulu was to enlist the sympathy of a prisoner affluent in the possession of two pairs of overalls, and another who was willing to donate his only shirt. Since then Lulu has been forced to remain in jail waiting for a dress and unable to appear in court until it was secured. As the court doesn't want to see Lulu as a male impersonator, she can't be held in jail without a charge against her, so it is the streets for Lulu and her bizarre garb. clothed in a dress of atmosphere prin-cipally. Chicago Newspaper Man Calls on Gov. ernor to Arouse Enthusiasm.

F. H. Griswold of the Chicago Tribune was yesterday a caller at the office of Governor William Spry. Mr. Griswold is here for the purpose of arousing interest in the United States Land and Irrigation exposition which will open in the Coliseum at Chicago on Nov. 20. Gov. Spry has arranged that a meeting of those most prominently interested in irrigation questions shall be held at his office tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which Mr. Griswold w

Mr. Griswold states that space at the exposition is being rapidly taken and that he is anxious to settle what Etan shall occupy. Southern Idaho will be largely represented, Boise and Fwin Falls also making extensive individual exhibits. California will send a state exhibit and Oregon and Washington will have considerable space. Since the endorsement of the exposition by the National Irrigation congress there has been a considerable increase of interest, according to Mr. Griswold, with nany demands for allotments of space.

REQUISITIONS APPROVED.

Gov. William Spry has approved a requisition asked by County Atty. Job P. Lyon upon the governor of Nevada for the return of J. J. Campbell and Ed McConnell now under arrest at Elko. The men are charged with hav-ing, on Aug. 14, stolen from the Fron-tier Days Wild West show, owned by J. C. Leary and John Y. Rich, a check J. C. Leary and John Y. Rich, a check for $550, the property of J. C. Leary. Deputy Sheriff Bert Seager left last night for Elko to bring the prisoners back to Salt Lake.
